Bristol Twp. To Cut Taxes 1½ Mills

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bristol Township taxes will be cut 1½ mills this year.

That's the surprise word from James N. Kline, president of the township board of commissioners, who said the reduction will be realized "without decreasing any services to taxpayers."

Today's disclosure by Kline comes three weeks after Township Manager Ronald Zweig presented a proposed 1965 budget calling for the same 17-mill tax rate as in 1964.

The Breakdown

However, with the Democrat-controlled board of commissioners ready to slice taxes, the 1965 rate will be 15½ mills, 14½ of which will be for general purposes and one mill fire tax.

The proposed budget of $1,651,200 will be aired tonight at a public hearing set for 8 o'clock in the cafeteria of Benjamin Franklin Junior High School, Mill Creek Road, Levittown.

Adoption of the budget will take place at the commissioner's regular monthly meeting next Wednesday night.

Pay Raise

Kline today stated that despite the tax reduction, the 1965 budget will include a minimum five per cent pay raise for all township employees.

He also said the township will continue "to put forward programs as planned, including the construction of a new municipal building."

In explaining the tax reduction, Kline said "we have obtained enough money from the one-mill increase last year and are planning a cheaper means of financing the new building rather than by general obligation."

Last year the commissioners increased taxes by two mills, one mill going for the new building and the other mill for general purposes.

Aids Reduction

Kline pointed out that the township has a cash balance of $103,830.52 from 1964, which also aids in the 1965 tax reduction.

"If you watch where the money goes and how you spend it, you can operate as efficiently at a lower cost," Kline declared.

He said the township would adhere to "a hard and fast capital improvements program for the entire township with a hard and fast budget."

REVEALED IN WASHINGTON:

Bombing Laos 7 Mos.

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers based in South Viet Nam have been attacking Communist targets and supply routes in Laos for the past seven months, it was learned here today.

The disclosure by well qualified sources followed announcement by the Defense Department in Washington that two of the heavily armed supersonic planes were shot down Wednesday over Laotian territory.

The Washington announcement appeared to produce confirming evidence that the United States has begun bombing raids against Communist supply lines leading to guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam.

The Pentagon said both pilots were rescued. They were identified as Capt. Albert C. Vollmer, husband of Mrs. Gloria Ann Vollmer (c/o L.O. Hagen, Denton, Kan.), and Capt. Charles L. Ferguson of Clovis, N. M., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Ferguson of Parma, Idaho.

De-ely Plane

Vollmer was flying an F105 "Thunderchief" — a bullet-nosed jet that is one of the most deadly weapons in the U.S. arsenal of air power. It is designed to carry 12,000 pounds of bombs and rockets at high speeds and long ranges.

Ferguson was at the controls of an F100 "Super Sabre"—the first operational supersonic fighter-bomber to be produced by the Air Force. It can carry more than three tons of bombs or napalm jellied gasoline.

Both planes are designed to carry nuclear weapons.

Informants here said the American jets have been carrying out "suppressive" strikes against Communist ground positions, Red supply routes and anti-aircraft batteries believed to be manned by regular troops of the North Vietnamese army.

A U.S. military spokesman refused to comment officially on either the strikes or Wednesday's incident. The Washington announcement failed to contain the usual disclaimer that the downed jets were not on a combat mission. Previous downed planes have always been described as reconnaissance aircraft.

In Vientiane, capital of Laos, informed sources said the planes crashed near Thathom, a village 20 miles southeast of the Plain of Jars. Laotian troops and Communist Pathet Lao forces have been fighting for control of the village for two months. North Vietnamese troops are believed in the area.

The Laotian sources said the planes were hit by groundfire from heavy caliber Soviet-made machineguns.

Wednesday's planes were the fifth and sixth American craft shot down over Laos since last June.

LBJ Asks Less Than $3.4 Billion

Foreign Aid Request Lowest Ever

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson submitted to Congress today an economy size foreign aid program of slightly less than $3.4 billion. It was the lowest amount requested since overseas assistance began 18 years ago.

At the same time, he asked for special standby power to increase help to South Viet Nam in its fight against Communist attack. If approved, this would give Johnson almost unlimited authority in aid for the embattled Southeast Asian country.

For the time being, he proposed $500 million for all of Southeast Asia, mainly Viet Nam and Laos.

In a message to Congress, Johnson termed his program for the next fiscal year the "lowest aid budget consistent with the national interest."

Summing up his aid request Johnson said: "We have pledged our strength—economic and military—in defense of those who would be free and in support of those who would join in working toward a stable, prosperous government."

"We will persist in our efforts to put more aid on a multi-lateral basis, to improve the coordination of bilateral aid, and to increase the share of the burden borne by other free world nations," he said.

cuts would be made.

Last year, this tactic resulted in the smallest cut ever made by Congress in a President's foreign aid request—only 7.6 per cent.

The new funds would be for fiscal year 1966 which starts next July 1.

The lowest previous final aid request for any one year was $3.47 asked by President (Continued on Page 19, Col. 3)

Carlin Won't Run For Re-Election

By JIM STANTON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bucks County District Attorney William J. Carlin is expected to announce tomorrow that he will not run for the Republican endorsement for a full term.

His withdrawal is expected to leave the path open to William H. Eastburn III, an assistant district attorney, who has the backing of county GOP leaders.

Carlin is serving the unexpired term of Judge Paul R. Becker who was appointed to the common Pleas Court a year ago.

Johnson noted that Russia and Red China have tripled their aid promises in the year. He also observed in the message that Nationalist China recently reached a point where no further economic aid was needed. Officials reported that Greece also reached a similar "milestone" point.

The President's request for standby spending authority in Viet Nam drew instant criticism from Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. He said this would permit the administration to "wage war that has not been declared under the Constitution."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., a frequent critic of foreign aid, commented: "I am disappointed by the large amount asked for Laos and Viet Nam. It seems to me that unless we can establish a stable government in that area we are wasting our effort."

Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he welcomed Johnson's decision to cut his aid requests.

The request followed last year's pattern of presenting Congress with a tightly cut down aid program in hopes few

$11 Million Coming For Bucks Roads

By PAUL ALTAIRE
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The Pennsylvania Highway Department will spend more than $11,000,000 in construction and maintenance of roads in Bucks County during the 1965-66 fiscal year.

An additional $6,000,000 may be spent during the same period on the extension of the Delaware Expressway from its present terminating point at Route 413 to Scudder Falls.

The funds are part of a $17.7 million allocation for construction and maintenance of roads in the five-county Philadelphia metropolitan area for the fiscal 1965-66 year beginning July 1.

An Increase

This represents an increase over the current period which ends June 30 of $11.7.

Good Evening!
S. O. Battling for G. G. G.

It's been learned the U.S. has been attacking Communist targets and supply routes in Laos for several months.

How much good it has done the U.S. has not been disclosed.

There has been a lot of impatience with the Viet Nam war. Many want us to pull out. However, since we have been fighting this war the Chinese haven't started any new Asian takeovers. Were we to pull out we would almost concede Asia to them.

Viet Nam has also served as a testing and training ground for our armed forces. Every life is precious but the few hundred we have lost is nothing in comparison to what it could be were we not to take a stand somewhere in Asia.

We lose more fighting men in auto accidents every year.

CLAREMORE, Okla., (UPI) — A. Archer, an Oklahoma cattleman, wears $1,000 on his head. But then, he says, that's better than being bald.

Archer should know because he was bald for 20 years and didn't like it.

Achieved A Dream

He has now achieved many a baldy's dream — hair all over his head — only he figures he paid about 75 cents for each hair. The hair was placed there in two operations involving about 200 transplants of five to 10 hair roots each, at a cost of $5 per transplant.

"It grows about half an inch a month," Archer said.

Archer, 58, said he read about the transplant process when he was in New Orleans for a football game about a year ago. He inquired and went to New Orleans for the transplants last March 19 and Sept. 17.

Flesh and Roots

He said each transplant involved taking a "plug" of flesh and roots from the fringe above his ears and inserting it in a hole fashioned in the bald area. Each spring of hair, he said, was about one-eighth of an inch long.

"It fell out in about 10 days," Archer said, "but within six weeks it started to grow again."

Won't Go Back

Archer said the operations, performed under local anesthetic, caused less pain than having a tooth pulled. But he said he isn't going back for more.

"If I wanted more, I would," he said, "But I'm getting all the hair I need."

New Zoning Ordinance OK'd For Office Buildings, Apts.

By GREG NAGY

Courier-Times Staff Writer

Middletown Township Supervisors last night passed a new zoning ordinance for apartments and office buildings.

The ordinance covers five types of buildings.

These include garden apartments (three floors or less); high-rise apartments (six stories or more); offices not involving sales or delivery of merchandise on the premises; educational, religious and philanthropic institutions; and medical and related buildings when authorized by the Zoning Board of Adjustment.

Provisions were also made for accessory uses of the ground floor such as restaurants, pharmacies and other related businesses.

"Growing Township" "Ours is a growing township and we need this zoning ordinance," commented Aldridge

More Police Proposed In '65 Budget

James L. Wright, vice chairman of the Middletown Township Board of Supervisors, said last night that most of the proposed budget will be approved, including an increase of the police department.

Wright said the supervisors had spent most of the weekend reviewing the proposed budget of the township manager, Barry R. Evans. Most of it will be approved and there will not be a tax boost, he said.

He commented in considerable detail about the police force. Wright said three new men would be added to the force bringing the total to 27. One sergeant will be promoted to lieutenant, a rank presently unoccupied. The starting salary will be raised to $4550 and five new cars will be purchased.

Police Budget "It is important that our citizens understand that our total police budget is over $200,000 which is approximately $30 per home per year," he said. "The average homeowner pays $43 per year in taxes to the township."

Noting that problems with traffic, delinquency and crime are increasing, Wright said, "Each year we have to increase our budget to protect the majority of law abiding citizens from the minority who don't give a damn."

"I believe it is time for all of us to expand a little extra effort as citizens and as parents in slowing down this increase in law violations which not only results in tax increases but in loss of life and property."

It just doesn't pay to be too happy.

James E. Driscoll, 50, of New York City, was on his way home from Maryland aboard a Pennsylvania Railroad Company passenger train.

According to Bristol police, Driscoll was put off the train at Bristol at 1:45 this morning because he was a wee bit tipsy. Undaunted by the inhospitable treatment of his rolling host, Driscoll walked from the station whistling a happy tune.

He must have struck a sour note in the melody for he was reported to police who picked him up and lodged him for the night in the borough bastille.

Driscoll was released this morning, sober, and with an opportunity to get acquainted with his "whistle-stop."

James Greenwood, Northampton Township supervisor, vacationing in the Virgin Islands, sent a letter to the other two members of the board telling them to "come on down."

Greenwood's letter which was read at this week's public meeting by Supervisor

(Auggie) Everitt, chairman of the supervisors. "I think we passed one that is restrictive enough to make it desirable."

Everitt explained apartments with four or five stories are not popular with builders because they need elevators but do not have enough units to make them financially worthwhile.

John L. Lindsay, who abstained from voting on the ordinance, objected because the township's planning commission had not seen some changes made at the recommendation of the Bucks County Planning Commission.

Urges Passage

Joseph Saba, chairman of the Middletown Planning Commission, commented that the ordinance was "mostly the same" and urged passage. He did say that the local commission should have been notified of the caucus with the Bucks County planners.

The supervisors agreed to wait until their Feb. 24 meeting before taking action on some zoning changes in the existing code which will affect residential and agricultural zoning.

Voices Objected

The strongest objections to the apartments were voiced by two Langhorne Terrace residents, Lou Carnation and Gerard Froggett.

They challenged a statement by one of the supervisors, Mrs. Mary Stemme, that the front foot assessment for connection to the proposed Neshaminy Interceptor Sewer would be lower if apartments existed in the Langhorne Terrace and Parkland areas.

"How can the front foot assessment be lower if sewers have to be put in before apartments are constructed?" Carnation asked.

Mrs. Stemme admitted she made a mistake, but it was pointed out that the annual cost of retaining bonds would be divided among more people. The two terrace residents were against the apartments because they felt it would increase the chances of the sewer project being approved.

According to the restrictions of the ordinance, each building must be constructed on a minimum lot of five acres. For every foot in height above 35 feet, the side and rear yards must be increased by a foot. This restriction makes it most unlikely that a skyscraper would be constructed. There will be 16 units for every acre of ground in the garden apartments, and 30 units per acre in the high-rise apartment. All units will have one or two bedrooms.

Before an apartment or office can be built, land must be zoned for it. Apartments now on Woodbourne Road were built under variances.

3 Streets Dedicated

In other business, the board dedicated three streets off the Langhorne - Newtown Road in Upper Middletown. They were Sunny Hill Drive, Fite Terrace and Janney Terrace, all given by the Elmi Corp. of Newtown.

The resignation of Mrs. Laura Jean Balderston of Oaklihurst from the park and recreation board was announced. She made the move in order to devote more time to the zoning board of adjustments, to which she was appointed at the last meeting.

Sgt. Kleckner To Quit Force

Sgt. Henry J. Kleckner, a member of the Bristol Township police force for the past 10 years, will resign next week. Bristol Township Manager Ronald Zweig today said Kleckner's resignation, to become effective Jan. 21, is for "personal reasons."

Kleckner, an expert marksman, is one of four sergeants in charge of patrol squads.

School Board Vote Deadlocked

Bensalem Rejects Teachers' Pay Hike

By CHARLES MCGURK

Courier-Times Staff Writer

A proposal to hike starting salaries of teachers in Bensalem Township schools by $200 was defeated by a split vote last night with one member of the school board abstaining.

Board member Mrs. Irma Petri made the motion to raise starting salaries of teachers to $5,000 following a suggestion for action by School Superintendent Robert K. Shafer.

Shafer asked the budget committee to give early consideration to starting salaries as recruitment of new teachers would start soon and the starting figure would have to be set before it could begin.

After Mrs. Petri made her motion, board member Charles Wheeler, Chairman of the Budget Committee, commented that, lacking proposals from the Bensalem Teachers Educational Association (BTEA), it seemed a bit premature to act on starting salaries. Mrs. Dorothy Wurst, who abstained from voting on the proposal, agreed with Wheeler and asked how much the pay hike would cost. Shafer replied it would cost about $36,000.

In reply to board member Oscar Schreiber's question whether the proposed raise would affect all salaries, Board Chairman Howard E. Speck commented it would affect every step in the salary schedule.

Deadlock Issue

Robert Hanley said he believed the confusion over starting salaries last year held up recruiting but added it seemed early to consider the subject at this time.

When the motion came to vote, Wheeler, Wilbur Horner and Schreiber cast nay votes while Hanley, Mrs. Petri and Speck voted in favor, deadlocking the issue with Mrs. Wurst abstaining.

Wheeler asked for a meeting to accelerate the matter and Shafer replied he believed one could be held next week and that the salary committee of the BTEA was in favor of the new figure.

Wheeler said perhaps the BTEA could formalize its approval and make a presentation

Doctor Hurt In Car Crash

A Levittown doctor sustained a spinal injury yesterday morning when his car was in collision with another on Route 1 at the Country Club Shopping Center.

Dr. Sidney Elfant, 185 Willow Drive, was taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Pennel - Middletown Rescue Squad where he was treated and released.

Dr. Elfant's car was struck by an auto operated by Charles D. Carroll, 27, of 11901 Stevens Road, Philadelphia.

Middletown Township police charged Stevens with driving too fast for conditions during yesterday's heavy fog. He was not injured.

Damages to Stevens' car were estimated to be $500, and to Dr. Elfant's car, $400.

Levittown Man Wins Crash Suit

A Bucks Civil Jury this week awarded $1,332.10 to a Levittown man in a damage case stemming from an auto accident more than three years ago.

The jury ruled in favor of the plaintiff, Joseph H. Borgna, 58 Cactus Road, Cobalt Ridge. Borgna was seeking an amount for less than $2,000 from Kermit D. Schlittler of 500 Madison Ave., Reading.

The jury also awarded $500 to Walter Heinz Jr., 3052 Essington Way, Cornwells Heights, who had brought a counter claim against Schlittler. Heinz was a defendant in Borgna's suit.

The case was heard by President Judge Edward G. Biester. In another case before Biester, a jury ruled in favor of the defendant in an auto damage suit resulting from a collision on Route 309 South of Quakertown.

The Norris Vending Co., Norristown, was seeking $1,176 in damages from Wilmer Baringer, Box 306, Richlandtown. The vending company had charged Baringer with negligence.

None Hurt In 3-Car Crash

Three motorists, two from Lower Bucks County, escaped injury yesterday afternoon in a collision of three cars in Cornwells Heights.

Bensalem Township police identified the motorists as Eugene Everk, 350 Main St., Tullytown; Raymond J. Knorr of 5017 Knorr St., Philadelphia; and Howard F. Williams of 3116 Moore Ave., Cornwells Heights.

The collision occurred at State and Street Roads at 3:50 p.m. and police said Everk and Knorr were first involved and that the rear end of Everk's car swung out and collided with Williams' vehicle.

Damage to Everk's car was estimated at $135 and at $75 to Knorr's car. Estimate of damage to Williams' car was $15. Sgt. George Campbell and Officer Alfred Bellini investigated the collision.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Authorities indicated today no action would be taken against a 5-year-old boy who fatally shot his 8-year-old school chum in a row over a coat and a 25 cent bet.

Detectives said they were advised by the district attorney's office that Winston Burney Jr., the boy accused of the shooting Wednesday, was not considered to be able to form intent because of his age. He was released in the custody of his parents

Authorities said they learn the victim, Michael Sullivan, and Winston made a 25 cent bet last Friday on the younger boy's age.

They said that Michael took Winston's coat because the boy would not pay him the 25 cents after losing the bet.

Michael was killed by a blast from a single barrel shotgun which struck him in the head and right side of the face outside Winston's home.

Detectives Howard McGrath and Gilbert Branch said Winston stood at the top of the step of his home and told the other boy, "This gun is loaded."

The detectives quoted Michael as saying "I don't care, I'm not afraid." The gun then discharged.

Police said Winston then ran back into his house and hid under his bed where he was later found by authorities.

Det. Lt. Frederick Russin said the boys were returning home for lunch from the M. H. Stanton public elementary school when Michael allegedly took Winston's coat and would not return it.

The younger boy walked into his house, obtained the shotgun from the living room and went outside to his front steps. Ruffin said Winston pointed the weapon at the older boy who was on the pavement, Ruffin added.

The shotgun went off, felling Michael who was pronounced dead at Temple University Hospital.

Ruffin said the shotgun belongs to Winston's father. The detective said a preliminary investigation indicated a brother or sister of Winston had been playing with the weapon and had loaded it with one of two shells on a television set.

Planning First Drive

Planning the first corporate drive of the Catholic Charities Appeal in Bucks County are Edward F. McGinley, general chairman of the Archdiocese's Committee of the Laity; Auxiliary Bishop John J. Graham, D.D., director of the Appeal; Frank Flatch, president of the Bucks County Council of the AFL - CIO, and Dr. H. Blake Hayman, chairman of the Bucks County Committee.

Catholic Charities Appeal To Be Launched March 19

The education and rehabilitation of handicapped children was graphically explained this week at the organization meeting of the Bucks County Committee for the Catholic Charities Appeal.

Auxiliary Bishop John J. Graham, D.D., director of the Philadelphia Catholic Archdiocese's Department of Special Education, described to a gathering of business and professional men how the archdiocese had pioneered in the education of retarded children and created in the Delaware Valley an entire new concept for teaching blind children.

School For Blind

Bishop Graham, who is also director of the appeal, said St. Lucy's Day School for the Blind, which serves the five counties of the archdiocese, was founded in 1954 with the idea that blind students, by the time they reached eighth grade, would be fully integrated with sighted children. At that time, there was no school for blind children in the area with an integrated curriculum.

The leadership role of the late John Cardinal O'Hara in special education for the handicapped was reaffirmed by the bishop when he said it was the cardinal's desire to "educate retarded children to the limit of their capabilities, without having them leave the family, where God had placed them."

Community participation in welfare programs was the theme of an address to the same group by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. Riley, director of the Catholic Social Services. He said labor, industry and government should become partners with the private agencies in helping solve welfare problems.

On State Board

Msgr. Riley, who is a member of Gov. Scranton's State Board of Welfare, said the new

St. Francis Vocational School for dependent children in Edgington, when completed will be "one of the finest vocational schools in the country." He said the rebuilding of the school, which was gutted by a fire on Sunday, Jan. 3, causing an estimated $80,000 in damages, will be one of the major projects of the 1965 appeal.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Sefton, executive director of the appeal, explained the foundation and development of the Archdiocese's Committee of the Laity since its inception eight years ago.

Edward F. McGinley, Jr., general chairman of the Archdiocese's Committee and president of the Beneficial Mutual Savings Bank served as moderator and welcomed the men to membership in the committee.

Host For Dinner

Dr. H. Blake Hayman, chairman of the Bucks County group, introduced the speakers and was the host for the dinner and business meeting, at his home at 2 Silverbell Road, Snowball Gate, Levittown.

Other speakers included Frank Flatch, Bristol, president of the Bucks County AFL-CIO Council, and vice chairman of the county organization; John Catzin, Fairless Hills, vice president of the Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Co., and Thomas M. Flatley, executive secretary of the appeal.

The drive will begin March 19.

Real Cold, But No Snow

Cold, frigid air poured into Lower Bucks today, sending temperatures downward to an expected low of between 10-15 degrees by tomorrow morning.

While residents will be shivering in winter's coldest blast, all is not gloomy. Latest word from the Trenton weather bureau is that we may not get any snow over the weekend.

A high pressure system, moving over the Great Lakes, is expected to arrive here Saturday. If so, the weatherman explains, it should hold back the snow which had been predicted for Saturday.

Holding At 25

The thermometer dipped to a low of 25 degrees this morning and it was still holding there at 3 p.m. The day's high most likely will be the 34-degree reading of last midnight.

Thus far, the coldest reading this season was 16 degrees on Dec. 19. The record low for tomorrow is two degrees above zero set on Jan. 15, 1957.

It was a nippy day outside today despite sunny skies. Bone-chilling, 20-mile-an-hour winds kept hardy souls wrapped up in mufflers and ear muffs.

Temperatures in the 30s are forecast for tomorrow and Saturday.

Tie-In OK'd In Croydon

Croydon area residents, who have received notices to hook into Bristol Township's sewer system, can do so immediately.

That was the word from Bristol Township Manager Ronald Zweig today after he met with the township commissioners last night.

Earlier, the plumbing official, David Miller, had been instructed not to issue tie-in permits in the Croydon area. The order was given by Zweig, who said he thought the commissioners had voted not to issue the permits.

Zweig said he had erred. But on Monday Zweig again told Miller not to issue any permits in the Croydon area. Complaints by residents brought the issue to a head last night when the commissioners OK'd the issuance of tie-in permits to Croydon homeowners who have already received notices from the township authority.

The only exception will be a section of Maple Ave., Zweig stated. Permits temporarily will be held up until a reverse flow correction in the sewer line is made by the contractor.

"Otherwise," Zweig stated, "all tap-in notices sent out by the authority will be issued permits by the township."

Runs Until Saturday

12th Antiques Show Opens At Yardley Centre Today

The 12th annual Yardley Antiques Show opened today and will continue through Saturday at the Yardley Community Center, 64 S. Main St.

The hours are from 11 a.m. until 9:30 p.m. daily.

Twelve years ago as a part of an early summer street fair, the centre staged its first antiques show. It was hot and the people who came were more interested in helping the centre financially than in antiques. So it was decided to try a show after the Christmas holidays.

Yardley Players Slate Thriller

Emlyn Williams' great thriller — "Night Must Fall," the next production for the Yardley Group Players, will be presented Feb. 11, 12, 13 at the Yardley Community Center, S. Main St., Yardley. Curtain time will be 8:30 p.m.

The story of a psychopathic killer with a vast imagination, should prove very interesting fare for the player's third play of their '64-'65 season.

Those in the cast are: William Holt, Ellen Smith, Evelyn Bara, Irene Posner, Joan Doran, James Immordino, Walter Clapperton, Helen Koudelic, and Joseph McGuire.

The production will be under the direction of Eleanor Carl.

B. Everist of Yardley, in this project.

Due to illness, Mrs. Christine Horn of Holland, who has been manager for the exhibitors, will not be a part of the group and the Centre will be presenting the annual show under the chairmanship of Mrs. Everist, with John McVeigh, president, and Roy E. Michie, treasurer, assisting her.

In addition to the exhibits on the auditorium floor a newly renovated room has been added, to be called the Lions' Den and its first occupants will be Mrs. Herbert Bailey of Levittown, and Mrs. Albert Williams of Drexel Hill, who are exhibiting for the first time in Yardley.

Sandwiches, home-made cake, vegetable soup and beverages will be served in the Pine Room, just beyond the Lions' Den, from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Dinners can be had each night by making reservation at the Registration Desk, being served from 5 to 7 p.m. The kitchen and dining room are maintained through the volunteer services of the women of the Yardley - Makefield area some of whom belong to service groups who use the centre as a meeting place. The home-made cakes and pies, bread and rolls are also the contribution of loyal supporters of the centre.

The executive board of the centre, which is a non-profit organization, is deeply appreciative of the support of the people of the area and will try to maintain the high quality of the show and hope for their continued interest, a spokesman said.

Man Suffers Eye Burns

A Lower Makefield man suffered severe left eye burns as a result of a laboratory accident yesterday at the State House in Trenton.

Richard Humphreys, 24, of 1231 Yardley Road, was injured at about 2 p.m. while at work as an assistant chemist in the New Jersey Department of Health, Division of Laboratories. A State House spokesman said Humphreys was preparing an alkali solution in a glass flask, which suddenly flared up and struck his eye.

Eye Flushed

Fellow workers quickly flushed his eye out with water and Humphreys was rushed to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, where he was admitted.

A hospital spokesman said this morning Humphreys was in fair condition after a good night.

2 'Specials' Called By School Units

Special public meetings have been called by the Yardley Borough and Lower Makefield Township School Boards.

The Yardley board meeting will be held Tuesday in the Yardley Elementary School at 8 p.m.

Dr. Robert Murphy, president, said the board will announce its decision on a request from Myles Furey, tax collector, that he be exonerated from collecting $3,798 in uncollectable taxes for the 1963-64 school year, at this meeting.

The Makefield School Board meeting has been called for 8 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 21, in the Makefield Elementary School, to discuss cost figures on the proposed new elementary school for the township on a 24-acre tract at Edgewood and Oxford Valley Roads, John Bodnarik, president, announced.
